SECTION B

(Answer ANY THREE questions from this section in Script B)

5. a) Read the passage and answer the following questions: (20)

In the wild, it often comes down to predator and prey, the hunter and the hunted. As you can imagine, most organisms want to stay alive. They have developed ways of adapting to severe habitats, and hiding or escaping from those who would like to eat them. So how do they do it?

One very helpful adaption is called camouflage. You may have been surprised by an animal that uses camouflage in the past. It blended into its surroundings so well that you nearly missed seeing it at all. Its coloring, markings, or the physical features resemble its habitat so much that you can look directly at it without seeing it at first. This is often good enough to fool a predator. This helps prey to hide from its predator. But did you know that it often works the other way around, too? Predators can use camouflage to trap their prey. If a predator wants to eat a certain animal, and that animal cannot see it lying in wait, it can pounce on its prey unexpectedly devouring it before it even knows what is happening.

Another popular adaption is mimicry. It is when an animal has markings or other physical characteristics that allow it to look like some other kind of animal or plant. If it can make its predators believe that it is something that preys on them, or would at least be difficult or painful to catch, its predator will often go off in search of an easier target.

Sometimes animals are able to survive when their habitat changes because they adapt to the new conditions. For example, raccoons easily adapt to residential areas that have taken over their woodland homes. They often help themselves to any food they can grab, whether it is in trashcans, or inside people's homes!

- What is the main idea of the text? Write in one sentence.
 - List two supporting details for the main idea.
 - Write down the adaptions given in the passage.
 - What adaption did you need to accommodate yourself in Khulna?
- b) Make a précis of the above passage. (15)

5. a.

I. Every animal wants to survive, so they chose the method of adaptation.

II. Since every creature wants to survive; they chose this method of Adaptation. They want to survive against their opponents, so it is adapted. - They made this adaptation by hiding or Alterning themselves.

III. Two ~~adopting~~ adaptations are given in this passage. One is camouflage and the other is mimicry.

IV. It will be adopted in khulna as raccoons adapted in the residential.

5(B) Precis of the passage:

The animals want to survive and they have to adopt different approaches to survival. One of the ways in which they can adapt themselves in the new environment, is camouflage. and the other is mimicry. Camouflage is a kind of cuddly approach to protecting themselves from the enemy and mimicry is scaring the enemy, or to force the enemy to fall back. For example we can see that, raccoons can adapt themselves both in the forest and residential area. They can live on anything they find or collect to eat.

SECTION R

(Answer ANY THREE questions from this section in Script B)

5. a) Read the following passage:

Are you unhappy about the shape of your nose? Or do you feel that your ears are too big or your eyes are too small? You don't need to despair about any of those things. They can all be put right by a surgeon. Surgeons are doctors who make sick people well by operating on them. But some surgeons today are really beauty specialists. Their job is to make ugly or plain people beautiful. This work is called plastic surgery.

Plastic surgeons are very popular in some countries. They make a lot of money by selling beauty to men and women -- especially women. Plastic surgery is very expensive. A new nose may cost almost as much as a new car. Suppose I call doctor to pay so much money and want to change my ugly nose for a more handsome one. I must consult a plastic surgeon. What will he do? First of all, he will ask me to enter a nursing home. I shall have to spend about three weeks there. The surgeon will give me anesthetic. Then he will operate on my nose to give it the shape I want. He will put a plaster case over it to keep it in its new shape. I shall have to spend the next week or two anxiously wondering whether the operation has been successful or not. "Will my nose really look better? Or shall I look uglier than before? Won't there be scars after the operation? What shall I do if my nose is not the shape I wanted?" And so on. And then the great day will come. The surgeon will take off the bandages and the plaster, and I shall my expensive new nose! Will it be worth all the trouble and expense? Sometimes these operations go wrong, and then patient comes away looking worse than before.

Now answer the following questions:

- i) What is the job of a plastic surgeon?
- ii) How much are the possibilities of success in plastic surgery?
- iii) What do you think is the author's opinion about plastic surgery?
- iv) What negative aspects of plastic surgery are mentioned in the passage?
- v) Would you like to undergo plastic surgery? Give reasons for your answers.

- v) I don't want to undergo plastic surgery because it has some side effects that can harm me much besides this it is too costly too.

Question 5(b)

Make a précis of the above passage with suitable title.

Can Plastic Surgery Make You More Successful

Nowadays it is very common to people women to make surgery to be more ^{special} ~~beautiful~~ by changing the shape, measurement or ^{color} of parts of body. By whom this process is a kind of doctor called plastic ^{surgeon} and this process of beautification is called plastic surgery. This is a highly expensive plastic surgery and its result ~~takes~~ takes time about 2-3 week. At the procedure the surgeon give you anaesthetic. After ~~com~~ surgery you have to take rest before ~~re~~ surgery you have to take rest before ~~re~~ this time most of the patient go through very depression. They thought themselves will be the result if it positive or negative. If the result is positive that's good but if that not happens the situation is undescribable the patients looks worse than before and lost their natural beauty.

Family Life and Hostel Life

Man is a social being and he lives in families. After days' business, people come back to their houses to live peacefully with the family members. But in this modern competitive age, human demands and necessities have increased to a large scale and can not meet all our needs sitting at home. We are forced to live away from our families either in messes or in hostels. It is known to all that we cannot get all the facilities of a family in a mess or hostel. A hostel life is completely devoid of parental love and guidance. The dwellers have to depend on self service, which sometimes turns to be a blessing. In hostel life, a student has to manage everything by oneself, and learns how to cope with the realities of life. In hostel life, one gets complete liberty, which often may cause havoc. If one is not conscious of one's time and duties, one can easily go astray. We get familial help and guidance in a family.

But sometimes we have to perform some duties towards our families. Sometimes a student can not make the best use of time. But in a hostel life, a student gets ample time to read and learn. In hostel life, a student can easily take others' help, which is not available in a family life. In a family, the parents try to bring up their children in accordance with their wishes and ideology. The reckless students need complete familial control and guidance. For them, family is the best place. A careful and conscious person can easily do well either living in a family or in a hostel.

There are a number of rules of behavior in the library. The librarian thinks that students ought to put back the books in their correct place on the shelves. They ought to leave the magazines and newspapers in good order. They ought to treat the book carefully and keep them in good condition. Students may not talk in the library or disturb others there. They ought also to keep reasonably quiet when they are passing along outside the library.

- i) Why do you think borrowers may not keep their books for longer than a fortnight?
 - ii) Why must students put books back in their proper places?
 - iii) Why does the librarian not allow students to talk in the library?
 - iv) Why may students not take reference books away?
- Answer to the question No: 5(a)

- (i) I think borrowers may not keep their books for longer than a fortnight because if they do so, they can't be able to borrow books anymore from the library.
- (ii) The students must put books back in their proper places because this is the rule of behaviour in the library
- (iii) The librarian does not allow students to talk in the library because it disturbs the other students who are reading in the library.
- (iv) Students may not take reference books away because reference books help many students who are starting their research etc who need quick information about a subject.

Question-5(b):

Make a precis of the above passage.

Answer:

The library of our varsity is decorated with lots of books including magazines and newspapers. The librarian can let the student borrow two books at a time but they are not allowed to borrow reference books. The students must keep silence in the library, treat the books carefully and return the borrowed books within a fortnight.

6) a) Paragraph

Importance of Computers in modern medical treatment.

Computer is a great invention of modern science. Nowadays computers are used in medical education and other medical related platforms very frequently. Computers are used in medical section frequently and it is quite impossible for us to think without it. Computers are an excellent source of storage for patient data and history. They also allow people to access important information much faster. Centuries ago, people did not have computers. Instead they had to write everything but it was so much tough to find out one's data. It is very painful too. Now they can store everything easily.

Computers also used for examining, diagnosing diseases. Many of the processes of generating images are usually established on Computer equipment. Computers are used for to produce 3-D image in medicine without a Computer doctors couldn't take x-rays for a broken bone on a person's body. MRI's take photographs and surgery is performed through cameras secured up to computers. Medical professionals are becoming more and more dedicated to their treatments and diagnosis between different diseases. In medicine production, computers are necessary. To estimate the value of ingredients of medicine we use computers to calculate exact value so finally we can say that computer ~~takes~~ ^{plays} a vital role in modern medical treatment.

6)b) Amplify the idea contained in the following:

Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty

Liberty is one of man's birth-rights. But liberty does not descend upon man automatically. It is gained by hard work and struggle. Much wealth and many life may be lost in this process. But it is more difficult to maintain and preserve liberty than achieve it. There are enemies seen and hidden always working against liberty. In case of a newly liberated country enemies not only work outside the frontier but they work from inside the country also, which is more dangerous, because it is difficult to identify the internal enemies. Here comes the question of vigilance for the retention of liberty. Again, the most important thing to remember is that nothing can be achieved once for all. So a victory is a victory for a short time. The struggle continues. Some people do not realise it and think that after a victory they can take rest. At that time hidden attack may fall upon them. So freedom of a man or a nation should be safeguarded carefully.

Lack of vigilance for a long time may spoil everything
Only who those are ever alert can enjoy the benefits of liberty.

I, the student of CSE on behalf, glad to inform The Head of the Department, CSE, KUET, that we are going to arrange Computer fair by the students of CSE in different school level.

The fair is going to be held on 21th April to 27th April, 2019 at different school in town. All the students of CSE are being divided in different sub-area schools for this purposes. The fair has also some exciting and mesmerizing events. The CSE developers will show their talents in the fair by coding & different programming contest, that, the high school student can achieve information from this event. Besides, there will have gaming contest of different games like fest. Also, there will have some electronics devices which work after some commands, designed by CSE developers. One can also buy best laptops and Desktop from the fair also. The Robotics event will also have some special things that are run by Computer Coding. The

(4) High schoolers can learn many things from this fair. They can also know the unknown and can improve their potentiality to invent newer things by programming or coding. The electronic devices will also help to known many things about integrated circuit & so. on.

CSE Section Name	High School Name	Event Name
CSE-A	X	Showing Coding System & Programming Benefits
CSE-B	Y	Coding Contest & programming contest
CSE-C	Z	Commanding, electronics device developing codes .
CSE-D	M	Selling laptops & Desktops
CSE-E	N	Computer Codes & Electronics invention showing (latest updates)

If the fair is done in different schools in town, then the school students can get much information and know the unknown. And, the CSE'ians will have a practise about everything & can get clear idea about programming, codings & their lacking individually.
